DAVENPORT . . . faces charges.

$1.5 Million Said Involved

Valentine Bank President Admits 'Misuse' Of Funds

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Sandhills banker Richard L. Davenport of Valentine Friday signed a "voluntary confession" admitting to the "misuse" of some $1.5 million dollars in Nebraska State Bank funds over the past 14 years, State Banking Director Henry Ley reported.

Davenport, 45, president of the bank at Valentine, was to be returned to Valentine Friday night to face a state charge of embezzlement by a bank officer in Cherry County Court, according to Cherry County Attorney Richard Spittler.

He said the complaint listed a $100,000 amount involved.

In Omaha, U.S. Attorney Ted Richling said a complaint was filed in Federal District Court, charging Davenport on two counts of making false entries in bank records. One count involved a $90,000 note, the other a $150,000 note. The complaint said both notes were fictitious.

C. H. DeFord, special agent in charge of Federal Bureau of Investigation at Omaha, said the FBI filed the federal complaint.

DeFord said examination of the bank records is continuing and "it is believed it will take a considerable period of time, since it appears that a large loss is involved."

Friday's developments, which followed by 24 hours the State Banking Department's taking possession of the bank at Valentine, began "a little before 9 a.m.," Ley said, when Davenport called him and "asked if he could see me."

He said he would be up in 15 to 20 minutes and was prepared to make a statement," Ley stated.

The taking of the statement consumed the balance of the morning and early afternoon hours, Ley said.

Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp came to Ley's office at the State Capitol shortly after noon following a phone call from the Valentine sheriff's office, and arrested Davenport on the charge of embezzlement by a bank officer.

Davenport remained in Ley's office with Karnopp until shortly after 3 p.m. when the Lancaster County sheriff and a deputy took the Valentine banker from the Capitol to a federal prisoner cell at the Lincoln City jail.

Ley held a 3:30 p.m. press conference where he disclosed the "pertinent" details of the case, adding that he could reveal only those facts which "will not hinder us" in completing the investigation of the bank.

Queried about Davenport's reasons for volunteering the statement, Ley said the banker stated he "was tired of living with it," Ley added, "And, of course, we were quite close behind him."

Asked if Davenport gave a reason for taking the funds, Ley said, "No reason, he just started it."

Queried about the possibility the fund involvement might be in excess of $1.5 million, Ley said, "That's what we'll go to Valentine tonight for" to see if more is involved.

The state presently has three investigating officers at the Valentine bank, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has five men there, and will send three FDIC claim agents to the Sandhills community Saturday.

Deposits in the bank are covered by FDIC insurance up to $10,000 per account, Ley said the amount not covered by FDIC "probably will be a million (dollars). But included in this will be city and state funds secured by other types of collateral."

A check with the State Treasurer's office revealed it has no funds on deposit at the Nebraska State Bank.

Ley said Davenport has offered to make restitution "to the best of his ability," but added it would be "utterly impossible" at this time to state how much that would be.

Land, Gambling
Ley said Davenport stated the "money was spent on land, cattle, the stockmarket, and a certain amount of gambling."

The banking director said Davenport had "equities to cover some of it," such as his home and some land.

Davenport also had told him, Ley said, that "no one else is involved and no one else knew anything about it."

He said it is "our feeling that no one else is involved." The first indication of trouble came October 12 when a special examination of the bank was ordered on the joint decision of the State Banking Department and the FDIC.

Ley said there was "an idea the bank was operating differently at this point" than banks of comparable size, and noted the amount of "paper" it had placed with other banks was "higher" than it was thought it should be.

VALENTINE STUNNED

Valentine (P)—Business was at a standstill in this town of about 3,000, hub of a vast sandhills ranching and cattle feeding area.

A leading citizen, Richard Davenport, was in custody on embezzlement charges and his State Bank of Valentine was closed while federal and state authorities continued an investigation.

The general reaction was one of shock when word was received of the arrest of Davenport, 45-year-old father of two and president of the bank closed Thursday by the Nebraska Department of Banking.

"I am very sad and shocked," said Dr. Tom Kruse, a dentist. "The community will suffer. Everyone likes Mr. Davenport. He always tried to help everyone he could."

That was a comment typical of those voiced by merchants, mechanics, car salesmen, grocers, ranchers and others.

Davenport was described as a solid businessman and good family man. One of Mr. and Mrs. Davenport's sons is a University of Nebraska student. The other goes to high school in Valentine.

Thief Grabs Gems Worth Big Ransom

New York (UPI) — Working as quietly as a cat, a burglar made off with a king's ransom in jewels during the night from the American Museum of Natural History, including two of the world's most precious stones — the fabulous Star of India blue sapphire and the blood-red DeLong Ruby.

Baffled police came up with a number of theories on how the burglar might have gotten into a fourth-floor room housing the collection of jewels donated to the museum by railroad tycoon J. P. Morgan. But they admitted they were only theories.

The museum, which only five days ago complained to city officials about a lack of security, kept the jewels in glass display cases with no burglar alarms in a room with an unbarred, unlocked window that was kept open for ventilation.

$380,000 In Value
The thief took 22 gems in all. A museum expert listed their value at $380,000.

But other jewelry experts said both the Star of India, the world's largest blue star sapphire the size of a goose egg, and the DeLong Ruby, the world's most prized red ruby, were beyond price.

Morgan gave the museum the Star of India, which weighs 563.35 carats, and one of the world's largest collections of semi-precious stones assembled for him by Tiffany's of New York.

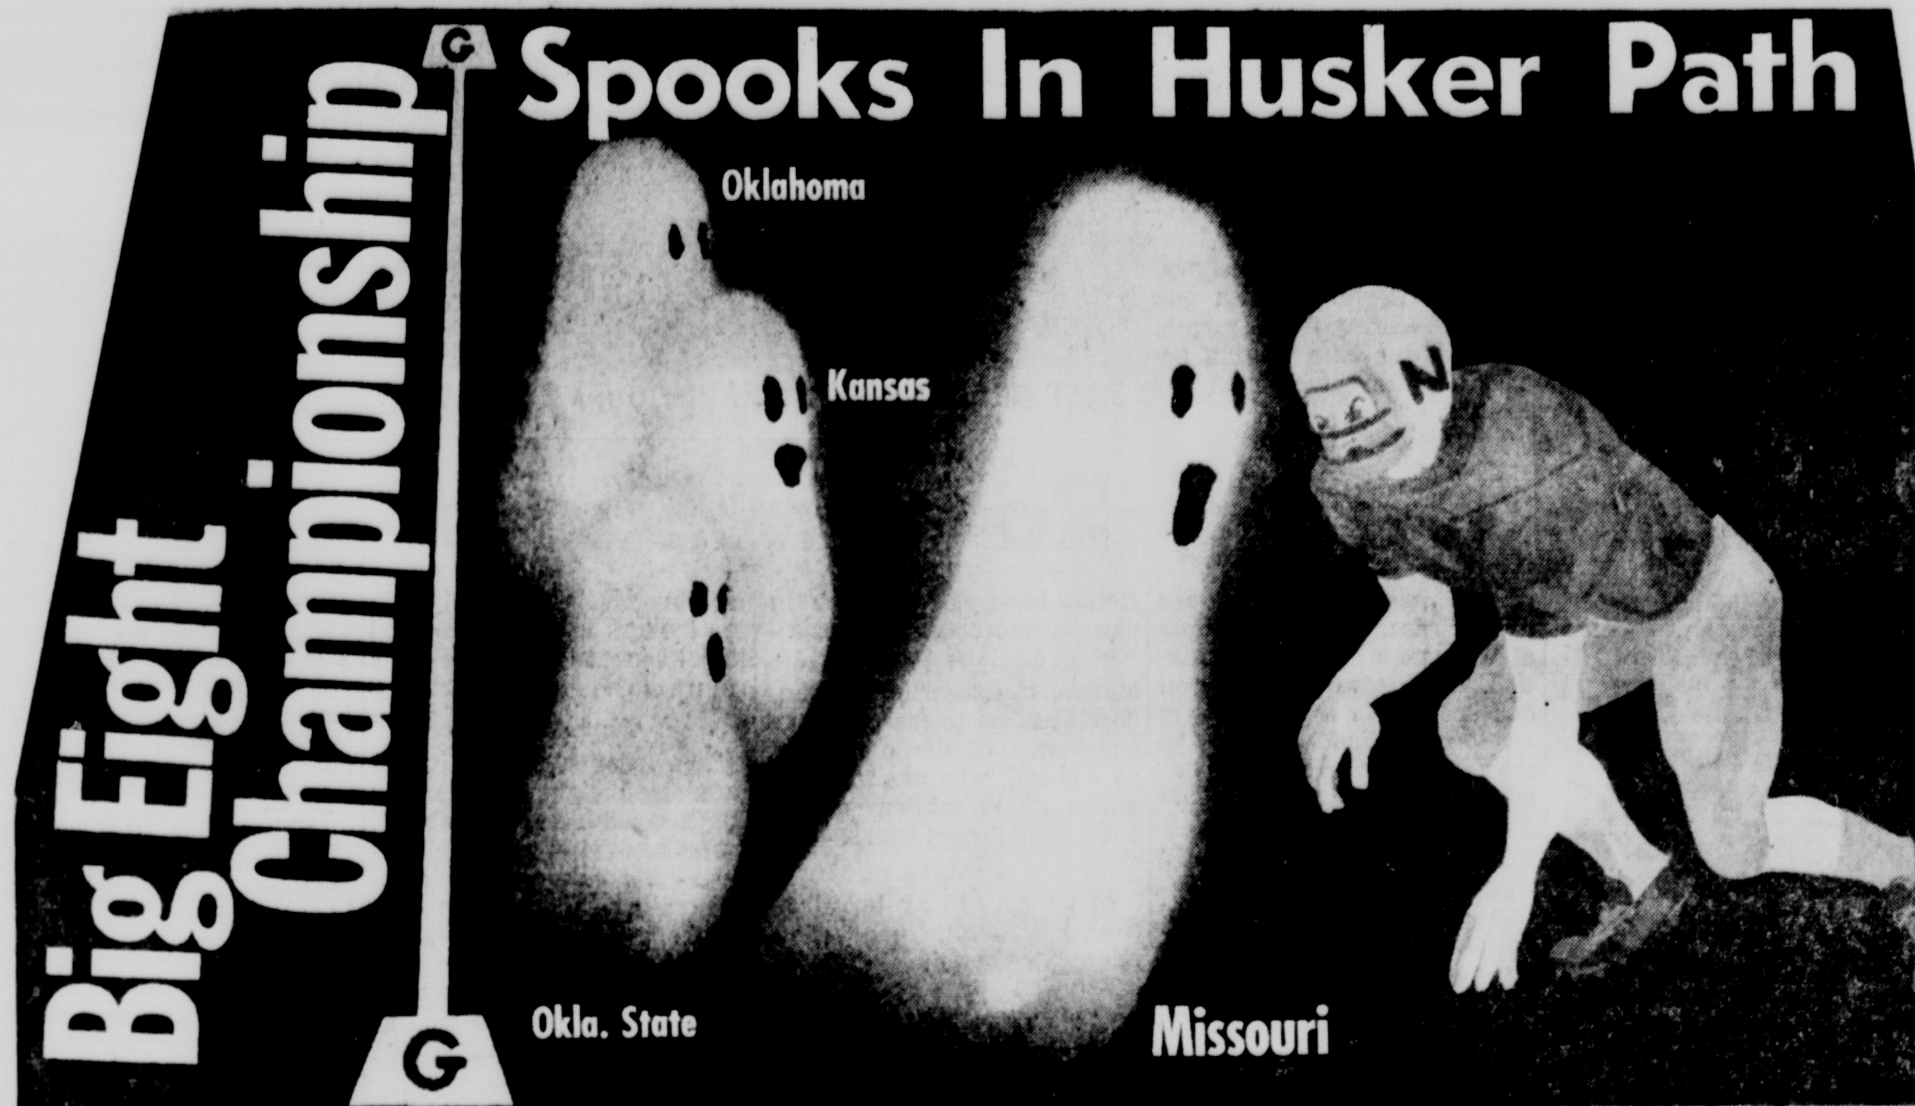

Perfection
The DeLong Ruby is a 100-carat stone presented to the museum in 1938 by Mrs. Edith H. DeLong. It is described by experts as the finest and largest of its kind in the world — a stone of unparalleled perfection and crimson in color.

It was discovered in the mid-1930s in Burma.

Among the other gems stolen were a smaller star sapphire called the Midnight Sapphire, a dark purple 116-carat stone; several engraved emeralds, two aquamarines, uncut diamonds and several diamond bracelets, brooches and rings.

Mizzou Tests NU's Unbeaten Huskers

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The nation's longest major college winning streak goes on the line at Nebraska's Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon when the Cornhuskers meet Missouri.

A record Nebraska crowd of 48,500 is expected to jam its way into the stadium before the 2 p.m. kickoff and most of those will be in search of a 14th straight win from the Huskers.

Nebraska's 13 straight wins, dating to the Air Force loss of a year ago, is the longest winning streak among major colleges. The string includes six straight this season, a 6-0 record that has gained the Huskers a fourth place ranking with United Press International and a fifth place rating with Associated Press.

Talk of a patsy schedule that some have credited with putting NU in such a lofty ranking should be tempered somewhat after Saturday since Missouri was rated in pre-season polls as having the best chance of challenging

Oklahoma for this year's Big Eight championship.

Surprise

Few observers had counted on Husker coach Bob Devaney coming up with another power at Nebraska and hardly anyone had seriously considered the Scarlet and Cream gridders capable of repeating as league champions.

But the NU football machine has taken up where last year's outfit left off and the Huskers have put themselves No. 1 nationally in total defense, No. 2 in rushing defense, No. 7 in pass defense, No. 5 in total offense and No. 2 in rushing offense.

In addition to ranking at or near the top in every team statistic except passing, the Huskers also have the nation's top scorer. Senior half-back Kent McCloughan has scored nine TDs and added a two-point conversion for a nation-leading total of 56.

Saturday's encounter is the first of four straight games in which Nebraska will be facing a foe that is in contention for the Big Eight championship.

After Missouri, NU goes against Kansas at Lawrence, Oklahoma State in Lincoln and Oklahoma at Norman.

Slow Start

Missouri got off to a slow start, losing the opener to California, 21-14, and dropping a 10-7 decision to Oklahoma State in the third game. But coach Dan Devaney's Tigers have now won three straight, a 7-0 decision over Kansas State, a 17-7 win over Air Force and a 10-0 triumph over Iowa State. The other Missouri victory was a 23-6 verdict over Utah.

The Tigers haven't made it in the top 10 in any of the national statistics, but they have the conference's total offense leader in quarterback Gary Lane who has gained

Coach's Capsule

Nebraska's Bob Devaney — "We're going into another tough ball game against a real power of the Big Eight Conference. We hope we can come up with another good effort because it will require a real top effort to win."

Missouri's Dan Devine — "We just hope we can play our best football. We feel we will have to play a perfect game and get the breaks if we expect to be in the game."

275 yards rushing and 470 passing.
Missouri faces a problem

Saturday of winning or giving up its Big Eight championship hopes because of the previous loss to Oklahoma State.

Still In The Picture

Only Nebraska and Kansas are unbeaten in the league chase while Missouri, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State are still in the title picture with only one loss each.

Rumors circulating through downtown Lincoln Friday that Husker quarterback Bob Church may not play against the Tigers were squelched with the announcement from Husker coaches and trainers that the signal caller was moving okay Friday and would be ready.

Barry Brands Self Winning Underdog

Las Vegas, Nev. (P)—Sen. Barry Goldwater scoffed at polls Friday that showed he was going to lose, and told an airport crowd at this desert gambling resort he was an "underdog underdog" who was going to win.

The Republican presidential candidate cited polls he said showed "an overwhelming majority" of the American people believe in the positions he takes.

"Six in every 10 voters," he said a poll disclosed, "believe federal powers should be trimmed. I am pleased, I'm happy, that my message is getting through."

Quick Mover

Goldwater was moving fast Friday as his presidential campaign rushed toward the last hours.

From Pittsburgh, where he would up his campaign for the Eastern vote, he flew to scheduled stops in Wyoming, Nevada, Arizona and California.

Speaking in a 30-mile-an-hour wind at Cheyenne's airport, Goldwater claimed that Turkey is gone as an ally and blamed its decision to send a trade mission to Moscow on "Lyndon Johnson's unsteady hand on the helm of the ship of state."

He ticked off other countries, including Britain and France, that no longer look wholly to this country, charging that "American prestige has been sinking slowly out of sight."

Trouble Signs

He listed these trouble signs for the country's foreign policy:

—France, claiming its seeks trade with the Soviet, asking: "And why not after this administration has treated France shabbily while treating the Soviet royally?"

—Pakistan, saying another "once firm ally is now seeking a $60 million loan from Red China."

—Cambodia, where he claimed new overtures were being made to Peking because of the U.S. "long policy of encouraging neutralism."

LBJ Predicts Win, Raising Of Sights

Chicago (P)—President Johnson said Friday night "we will win this election" and "we are going to raise our sights."

In a speech to a big Democratic rally at the Chicago Stadium Johnson called for "a strong Democratic Congress to keep this country moving ahead."

The President made public results of a survey which he said reflected "wide-spread compliance" with the new civil rights law.

The President said: "what is more important, it shows the law is being obeyed in those areas where some had predicted there would be massive disobedience."

MISSING DOG CAUGHT; GUM AIDED CAPTURE

A Norfolk family's dog, lost in downtown Kansas City, Mo., for more than a month, has been found.

Credit bubble gum for her capture.

The dog, Dutch, is a German shorthaired pointer owned by the Dr. J. H. Dunlap family. After a K.C. dog show Sept. 28, Dutch chewed and clawed her way to freedom and had been hiding out ever since.

But a trap baited with bubble gum—one of Dutch's favorite treats—lured the show dog and she was nabbed by a Kansas City policeman.

Dutch "needs only a bath" to return to the show ring, the family reports.

The dog—hunter, watchdog and pet of five children—"did everything but turn cartwheels" when she was reunited with the Norfolkans.

GI-Columbus Line Approved

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Power Review Board Friday approved Loup River Public Power District's application to construct a 230-kilovolt electric transmission line from Grand Island to Columbus.

The order was entered on a unanimous vote after the board split 3-2 in favor of immediate action.

Earlier Friday, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative (G&T) filed in Platte County District Court an injunction suit to prevent Loup from constructing the line.

Not Without Approval

The G & T suit alleges that

Loup should not be permitted to begin construction on the line without board approval.

In other action, the board left pending the G & T's application to construct a 230-KV line from Fort Randall to Grand Island.

A hearing will be scheduled on the joint application by Consumers Public Power District and Tri-State Generation and Transmission Association to construct a 230-KV line from Stegall (near Gering) to North Platte. Power Board Chairman William Norton said.

In its order, the board criticized Loup for advertising for bids on material necessary for construction of its proposed line without first obtaining board approval, and for Loup's delay in filing "a timely application" for construction.

Loup has said that it must begin construction about Nov. 15 if the line is to be completed by the summer of 1965.

To Strengthen Grid

The 64-mile transmission line is designed to strengthen the Nebraska Public Power System grid, particularly at the Grand Island load center. The new line will permit greater utilization of the existing transmission line from Fort Randall to Columbus and allow an additional 16 to 19 megawatts of energy to serve the Grand Island load center.

Berliners Cross Wall For Reunions

Berlin (AP) — West Berliners surged into East Berlin Friday for happy reunions with relatives.

It was only the second time the Communists have permitted such crossings since they built the wall three years ago.

The official East Germany news agency ADN reported that more than 20,000 West Berliners had passed through Communist controls by nightfall.

On the first day of last year's Christmas visiting period, about 4,000 West Berliners went through the wall.

Friday's welcoming scenes in East Berlin were not quite as dramatic as last year's, but there were many long and tearful embraces.

"It is terrible shame that even a single tear has to be shed when relatives meet, many of whom live only a few minutes apart," said a middle-aged man who was about to pass through the wall to visit his mother. "If it were not for this disgusting thing . . ." he added and pointed to the gray concrete wall.

One of the most heartbreaking scenes of the day was witnessed at the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint. A young woman waited there in the cold, gray morning with her husband. She was sobbing bitterly. Suddenly she exclaimed: "Mother! Mother!"

Mourning

An older woman in black mourning clothes walked slowly past the Communist guards. The two women fell into each other arms and both wept. Even the Red guards looked away in apparent embarrassment.

After the women and the man got into a taxi, a guard explained that the young woman's father, who also had a pass to visit East Berlin, died Thursday night so the mother came alone. And she will have to go home alone, for the Reds do not even allow their subjects to attend funeral services in the West.

Of West Berlin's 2.2 million residents, about 800,000 have close relatives in the Soviet sector and thus are eligible for passes.

Last year's agreement, the first since the wall was built to stop the escape of refugees in August 1961, ran for 18 days.

Four Periods

The new agreement, signed by West Berlin officials and the East Germans last month, provides for four visiting periods within the next 12 months.

French Ink Trade Pact With Russ

Paris (AP)—France and the Soviet Union Friday signed a new and larger five-year commercial agreement providing for a controversial seven-year credit for part of the exports to the Soviet Union.

Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said the long-term credits were granted because Britain, Italy and Japan already had broken the gentlemen's agreement of the industrial countries to grant only short terms to Communist countries.

The agreement was promulgated on the theory that terms longer than five years more closely resemble foreign aid to the Communists than simple commercial trade.

The accord, to run from 1963 through 1969, provides for a two-way exchange of $1.44 billion worth of goods. Of this, $840 million worth will flow from France to the Soviet Union, and $600 million will flow in the opposite direction.

The agreement increases by 60% the commercial exchanges of the previous five-year pact. French seven-year credits of $356 million will be extended for the sale of capital goods to the Russians.

D'Estaing and the Soviet foreign trade minister, Nikolai Patolitchev, signed the pact.

$10 Bill's Value Down 2 Cents

Washington (AP) — Living costs went up in September, but President Johnson said the rise was so small it showed that "we have the most stable price level in any industrial nation in the world."

Johnson, in Detroit, announced the increase of two-tenths of 1% several hours before the official figures were released here.

The President has jumped the gun on government economic announcements several times during the current political campaign, usually stressing the good over the less favorable and hinting strongly that Democrats could take the credit.

"We wish they weren't up at all," Johnson said in reporting the price rise which nipped another two cents from the value of a $10 bill.

It took $10.84 in September to buy what cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the government's consumer price index is based.

Johnson noted that factory earnings and purchasing power hit record levels in September and called it "the prosperity story in a nutshell."

In stressing the small amount of the price rise, Johnson said, "The prosperity of the past 44 months didn't just happen."

After that, there wasn't much new in the official Washington announcement.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, made it.

"The President has already told the story," Chase said. "We had better get started before somebody else scoops us."

Chase appeared to echo Johnson in stating that the over-all price rise from September 1960 to September 1964 was 4.9%, compared with an 8.3% rise from 1956 to 1960.

Chase didn't point out that the Republicans were in power in the earlier period.

Modern African Girls' Western Ways Bemoaned

By DENNIS NEELD

Nairobi, Kenya (AP)—The modern African girl who has changed her loin cloth for stretch pants and high heels is under fire in Kenya for aping the modes and morals of the West.

An African student recently returned here from Europe sparked the battle of the sexes with an indignant letter to the press. He accused the girls of being "merely gimmicks of Western civilization" and charged that they were more interested in money than happy marriage.

"They measure love in terms of envelopes full of pink, blue or green notes," George Mukudi protested. "This cheap approach has led many African young men to forget about marriage," he warned.

Hot Under Collar

Equally indignant was the letter of Zacharias Chesoni.

"These girls not only imitate Western civilization but even try to put on Western flesh and hair, the beautiful African natural hair is burnt to change it from kinky to straight. Some use so much makeup and lipstick that instead of looking like human beings they look like models."

Zacharias attributed the girls' behavior to "a social revolution which almost the whole of our African society is undergoing."

But students returning to Kenya should not expect African women to measure up to the sophisticated white girls they left behind in Europe or America, said Zacharias.

"We must lower our standards," he declared. "We should help these poor African girls who have become gimmicks of Western civilization to become the ideal African girls we want."

Reds Grab Big Role In Sudan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The inside story of a 10-day upheaval that shook the vast Republic of Sudan is told in detail here for the first time. After musing details seeped out in tell of a confused rebellion, the Associated Press bureau chief in Cairo, George McArthur, flew to Khartoum, capital of the nearly million square miles of strategic territory bordering Egypt and the Red Sea.

McArthur and a London newspaper correspondent, the only Western newsmen present, watched the crisis develop and a Communist pattern emerge. The story, bottled up for days by a shutdown of communications, began flowing out Friday night.)

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

Khartoum, Sudan (AP)—The largest country on the African continent was pushed to the brink of chaos this week. The military regime of President Ibrahim Abboud collapsed and at least 30 people died and 200 were wounded.

After the disorders, a small, well-led Communist Party emerged with disproportionate power and an open role in the government for the first time.

Abboud survived as president only by ditching his old generals, and surrendering power in a drama played out in almost majestic isolation from the rest of the world.

Strike Cripples

As the crisis developed a general strike gripped the sultry capital, cutting radio and telegraph communication, closing the airport and bringing trains to a halt.

Shops, public buildings and embassies were tightly shuttered.

Between riots, the streets were largely deserted, save for armored cars slowly patrolling—and carefully stopping at automatic stoplights which disdainfully flashed red and green through the 10 days of turmoil.

Begins Oct. 20

The old regime's downfall began Oct. 20 when police broke up a student meeting in Khartoum University, called to discuss a rebellion in the southern Sudan.

When the students refused to disperse, and after several clashes and stone-throwing fights, the police opened fire, killing one student outright and wounding 9, perhaps 15.

A thousand people marched next day in the student's funeral procession and scattered demonstrations began to break out all over the city.

Police Can't Cope

The size and determination of the rioters took everyone by surprise. Police were unable to cope with the situation. Crowds would gather at one spot, burn a few cars in an angry blind protest and then fall back before tear gas charges only to reform again a few hundred yards away.

Through a "national front" was formed of all the opposition parties and the end of military rule was demanded, the government appeared secure. Army troops were coming in to reinforce the police, and the general strike had not yet become totally effective.

President Abboud then went on the air to announce his virtual surrender.

7 Reds In List

The "national front" was called in next day to form a government. The first cabinet list submitted numbered 15 men and included seven Communists and two others who would have supported them.

It came close to being accepted by the army, anxious to end the rioting, but in the end was rejected.

On Wednesday morning the mobs charged across the area where in the late 19th Century the Sudanese cut down the English and Egyptian garrison of Gen. Charles George (Chinese) Gordon.

The mobs were met by waves of machine gun fire from turret armored cars.

About 15 were left dead on the street, scattered among tear gas canisters, discarded placards and dozens of odd shoes lost by fleeing demonstrators.

With that burst of gunfire, the army re-established itself as a power in the country whether its members hold cabinet posts or not.

Vow Liberty Rebirth

Sudan rebel leaders called off a general strike Friday night and welcomed the appointment of a new civilian government that has promised a rebirth of civil liberties, radio broadcasts said.

A statement of the dissident United National Front claimed victory in "the revolution" and urged all Sudanese to give their allegiance to the regime. The strike and street

Owens Stresses Education Value

Kearney (UPI)—Some 2,100 delegates from Districts 4 and 5 of the Nebraska State Teachers Association gathered at Kearney State College's Cushing Coliseum Friday to hear a talk by former Olympic track star Jesse Owens.

Owens, who makes his home in Chicago, charged the teachers with the responsibility of "giving through education the leadership we need tomorrow."

Just back from Tokyo where he attended this year's Olympic games, Owens said he "found hope" in the reaction of the Japanese people to the presence of Americans in their land.

The former speedster discounted the value of championships as such. The real values, he told the educators, are those given to students by their teachers.

"These don't tarnish and gather dust as do the athletic trophies and banners," he said.

Max Snyder, 42, president of the Snyder Packing Co., and Paul F. Harm, its director of personnel and manager of combined operations, said Snyder will construct a $300,000 beef kill plant on a 55-acre tract just south of the city limits of Hastings.

Snyder, a family concern already has beef killing plants at Ayr and Red Cloud and a retail and wholesale outlet in Grand Island.

The two officials said a contract was signed Thursday with B. and C. Steel in Lincoln for the three-story steel and concrete structure. The project will also include holding pens for 160 head of cattle.

The plant embodies the new "carrousel" concept in which there are 15 manned stations where ultimately men will revolve around the carcasses. This will enable them to handle two cattle per man per hour, an improvement over previous operations.

The firm now employs 30 people and expects to have 50 by July, 1966.

The plant will be constructed to Department of Agriculture standards, making available a market for federally inspected and graded beef.

Winnebago Hunter Is Killed

Winnebago (P)—A Winnebago boy was wounded fatally in a hunting accident Thursday.

Carl Wayne Payer, 16, was dead on arrival at a Winnebago hospital. Physicians said the boy had been struck in the head by a .22 caliber bullet.

Sterling Snake, Winnebago town marshal, said Payer and four other boys were hunting squirrels when the mishap occurred.

Heart Attack Fatal To H. A. Lee, 67

Omaha (P)—H. Arthur Lee, 67, part owner of the Seward and Lee Drug Co., died at his home Thursday following a heart attack.

Mr. Lee was display supervisor for Liggett's Rexall Drug Company for more than 20 years until the company sold its stores in Omaha in 1951.

Surviving are his wife and three brothers.

Grange Opposes Amendment Six

Seward — The Nebraska State Grange opposes proposed Amendment 6 authorizing the Legislature to separately define, classify and regulate loans and installment sales, according to Albert J. Ebers, master of the Grange.

"We deplore the misinformation heard on radio and TV spots propagandizing Nebraskans that there will be no installment sales if this amendment is not passed," the Grange leader said.

"A vote against Amendment 6 would be for the constitutional protection of 9% maximum interest rate which could be changed by the Legislature," he added.

Sen. Hruska's Czech background gave him an advantage in rolling off local names like that of postmaster Milo T. Jelinek, Morrison and Beermann made an honest effort, however, the governor picking up extra points by crediting his campaign stamina to "a good Czech blood transfusion."

Hruska reminded that this nation has but 6% of the world's population, it accounts for 66% of its mail. This, he inferred, dramatizes the need for "keeping open the free line of communications."

Mother Wins $70,000 Suit Against Son

A mother-against-son suit for damages in an auto accident resulted in a Lancaster District Court jury award of $70,000 to the mother, Mrs. Dorothy N. Olson of Raymond.

The jury award—a record in recent history—came after a trial involving a Dec. 26, 1962, head-on crash on a county road. Mrs. Olson was the driver of one of the cars, and her son, Charles E. Olson of Malcolm, was the driver of the other.

In her suit, Mrs. Olson had asked $75,000 in damages alleging that she had suffered severe and permanent injuries which kept her from continuing her employment as a rural school teacher.

By DEAN TERRILL

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wilber — The dedication of the new $60,000 post office drew some 300 persons and a few Czech phrases by three vote-conscious state officials Friday afternoon.

If other politicking was present, however, it was subtle and mostly of the hand-shaking variety. Gov. Frank Morrison, Sen. Roman Hruska and Rep. Ralph Beermann limited their remarks largely to congratulating the town.

Regional postal director Charles W. Shoemaker made the dedicatory address, stressing that the department's 580,000 employees are wholly dedicated to a service operation. Its 35,000 post offices deliver an average of 360 pieces of mail annually to each United States resident.

This building is another link in the greatest communication system ever devised by man, he stated.

Break Ground For New Concordia Music Center

By JOHN LEE

Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward — Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Friday morning for the new $650,000 Music Center at Concordia Teachers College.

Music, appropriately, played a part in the ceremony with Profs. Paul Rosel and Charles Krutz directing the a cappella choir and a brass choir.

The Rev. A. T. Bostelmann of Norfolk, vice president of the Northern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, delivered the groundbreaking sermon.

He challenged students to receive proper training in music so that when they go into the teaching profession, they will be equipped to carry on successful music programs in schools and churches.

Concordia President Dr. W. Theophil Janzow turned the first spade of earth on the building site at the northeast corner of the campus.

Also participating were the Rev. L. W. Hedemann of Seward, a member of the Board for Higher Education; A. C. Bek and Don Koltermann, both of Seward, members of the college Board of Control; and Prof. Rosel, chairman of the music section.

The music center will house all music instruction and administration except for some piano practice studios.

Two recital halls, band and chorus rooms, organ, piano and instrumental practice rooms will be provided in the modern, three-level T-shaped building.

The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, provided $650,000 for construction of the center. An additional $100,000 in gifts is being sought to provide furnishings and equipment.

A Matter Of Values

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Well, we commented in a philosophical tone the other day to a fellow interested in both sports and politics, the big day will soon be here. Which do you mean, he came back, Saturday or Tuesday? Saturday, today. Nebraska's Cornhuskers take on the Tigers of the University of Missouri and football-crazy citizens of this state will be cheering their gladiators on.

We doubt that there is a state in the nation as consumed with football as is Nebraska. It is one thing in which there seems to be universal agreement on the desirability of excellence. It is probably fortunate that college football is controlled by the schools or Nebraska might well be pouring every cent they had into the sport. If there were such a thing, the mill levy for football could double at any given time and not produce a raised eyebrow. So, Saturday is a big day for a lot of Nebraskans and we hope they are able to savor a victory after the battle on the gridiron has ended.

Tuesday, however, is still a big day, too, as it will go a long way in deciding the future of the state and nation. Before we get to Tuesday, though, there is still a third event to be reckoned with. Saturday is not only a football day, but is Halloween night and there are those for whom this is the biggest day of all at this time of year.

You shouldn't have been too surprised, either, if you were bothered Friday night by a few early trick-or-treaters. One group we know of made the rounds a night early because other things were going to have them busy on Saturday night. That seems to us to be going a little far but at least it shows the coming generation to be alert to all possibilities.

Each year, the neighbors claim that the number of trick-or-treaters grows and we are inclined to think they are right. We are still thankful, however, that the custom of Halloween has changed from what it used to be. The trick-or-treat idea is relatively new. There was a day when you had no choice as a homeowner and took what the kids in the neighborhood passed out. The youngsters, however, were pretty selective and took advantage of the night to play havoc with those in the area for whom they had little love. The homes of friends ended up with a good deal of corn on the front porch but that was easily swept away the following day. For others, there was a good dose of soap for all the windows and a great deal of bothersome noise. For these others, there were constant trips to the front door to answer a knock or a ring by some prankster who was well hidden by the time his summons was answered.

These others were the places where the youngsters had come to learn they were unwelcome. All year long they had been under attack by the residents of the houses in question. They had been hollered at, ordered about and misunderstood in all things when it came to the occupants of these houses. These were the lawns across which no child dare pass, the areas in which quiet must prevail, the sources of frequent calls to police and the dog catcher. Never to be found at these houses were such things as a cold drink on a hot day or snack in the middle of the afternoon. There was never a sale made at these homes of the many often screwball things that children peddle from time to time.

It was a shame that there were such places, not for the sake of the children but for the sake of the misguided adults who sacrificed many rewarding moments. They wanted to lock out of their lives the many wonderful and rewarding characteristics that can be found only in children. They lacked the good sense to realize that they were punishing only themselves.

Today, tricks on Halloween are practically unheard of by the average homeowner. Regardless of his nature, he isn't out the next day washing the windows or the side of the house or even sweeping the porch clean. There seem to be fewer disgruntled adults these days and the tricks side of Halloween has all but disappeared.

When the children call in the evening at the front door, they give you the traditional choice between tricks or treats but they wouldn't know what to do if you refused to treat them. They would simply walk off and head for the next house, leaving that person to his own little world of small-mindedness. Halloween is still viewed by some adults as a nuisance, even though they go along with it but there are others who get more out of it than the children do. There are some homes where the children are invited in and all in that home are entertained with the costumes and talk of their callers.

For the youngsters, the climax comes when they return home and spread on the floor before them the tremendous variety of candy, gum, etc., that they have collected during the evening. For a change, they have all the goodies they can possibly consume and their hearts as well as their stomachs are full.

Farewell, October

This is the last day of October and the moment should not pass without some meditative reflection.

Indian summer was never more pleasant and gentle than during October. The marigolds were never brighter, nor the pin oaks redder, the sky bluer. Tranquility is the order of the day for nature, disquiet only where men gather. This is probably a deep unhappiness afflicting only human kind. It was given a beautiful world with an ability to appreciate it but not quite enough sense to run it successfully. That's why all human societies are born to die. The seasons also pass but in their regular unending cycle they are reborn.

Indian summer is one of the best. The annual bounty of the earth has been realized. The last bit of it is being gathered. The work is done; survival is assured. The time has come to rest before the cold winds of winter blow. Now those cold winds are not far off, just a few more weeks. The trees will be bare, the roads frozen. The short days, the long nights will be with us until one day the sun will begin warming us again and the daffodils return and the thunder showers will make the new crops spring up.

Indian summer is the proper old age for a good year, a period of rest and pleasantness, a time for enjoyment and a time for taking stock of ourselves. It is the right time for football when age can watch youth in all its health and vigor, getting the feel of the long struggle that lies ahead, pursuing victory, shaking off defeat, which is never dishonorable.

It is the wrong time for political campaigns for they do not represent what is best in men. We should hold our elections during blizzards.

Dr. Frank Luther Mott

Frank Luther Mott died recently. To a great many people in the general walks of life this announcement carries no great connotation. But in the field of journalism it marked the end of a life of great and unusual service.

Professor Mott contributed greatly to the excellence of the College of Journalism at Missouri University. And he taught a generation of sensitive young journalists there. He was also author of several thoughtful books, among which were the Golden Multitude; The Story of Best Sellers in the United States and a multivolume History of American Magazines, two volumes of which won for him a Pulitzer prize. The fifth volume of that history was in the works at the time of his death.

Working from the knowledge that in a democracy popular literary tastes are a matter of transcendent importance because they embody freedom of expression on a broad spectrum of views, Prof. Mott remained concerned with the quality of American journalism.

Writing has had a great deal to do with the shaping of the country. A prime example is the Federalist Papers which carried the telling arguments in favor of our federal union as we now know it. Dr. Mott addressed his attention to the ever vexing problem of what news to emphasize and how to write it so that it communicates precisely with the readership. This is the deep concern of every editor and as communications become constantly more abundant and editing becomes more complex as well as abstract the problem grows proportionately greater. It is a case of recognizing "history in the egg."

Professor Mott did not solve the whole problem. No one man can. But in his lifetime of letters he improved the yardsticks and enlightened the field at its most abstruse and trying point.

Consumer Still In The Middle

From The Christian Science Monitor

We doubt that Mrs. Esther Peterson is "doing irreparable damage to the reputation of American businessmen and the advertising business . . ." If such damage is done it will be through a failure of business and advertising to maintain high standards.

However, the charge was directed at Mrs. Peterson, the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, by the large Advertising Federation of America. A memorandum to members from its president said that observers at the initial consumer conferences organized by Mrs. Peterson "report that, by inference and innuendo, those who attend are being impressed with the idea that they should distrust business and question the truthfulness of all advertising."

Such innuendo has not come through in published reports of the conferences that we have seen. At last summer's Washington conference on helping low-income families get the most for their money, Mrs. Peterson was reported as attributing unscrupulous practices to a small minority of businessmen.

As for advertising, Mrs. Peterson has recently said what everybody knows, that its power is sometimes misused. But, after the AFA charge, she reiterated her opinion, and ours, that "American advertising deserves a great deal of credit for helping to create our expanding economy and for underwriting the vast communications system."

Hate Book Writer In The Pay Of GOP

WASHINGTON — As this vituperative presidential election drags to a close, here are some facts regarding certain controversies which have highlighted the campaign. They pertain to Republicans, because it's the Republicans who have been flooding the airways with charges.

Security Risk Jenkins? — Col. Walter Jenkins was a member of the famous 9999th air force reserve squadron commanded by Maj. Gen. Barry Goldwater, which included various senators, congressmen, and administrative assistants on Capitol Hill. The squadron not only took annual junkets abroad as alleged "training flights" at the taxpayers' expense, but also scheduled meetings about once a week on Capitol Hill.

At these meetings classified information was discussed. At no time did Gen. Goldwater demur at Col. Jenkins attending these meetings, nor did he protest the very high ratings given Jenkins — despite Gen. Goldwater's current protests that Jenkins was a dangerous security risk.

Who paid for smear books? — The Republican National Committee has been steadfast in its denials that it has had any connection with the smear books which have flooded the nation against President Johnson. However, the committee's confidential vouchers for July show a $1,000 payment to Frank Kluckhohn, who wrote two of the most scurrilous of the anti-Johnson books — "The Inside On LBJ" and "Lyndon's Legacy."

Kluckhohn collected another $1,000 from the right-wing Americans for Constitutional Action.

er $1,000 from the right-wing Americans for Constitutional Action.

Kluckhohn was dropped by the New York Times after a checkered career in Mexico and Argentina, more recently has been a hate crusader for Rev. Billy Hargis's Christian Crusade.

Crime and morality — the chief GOP expounder of morality and denouncer of crime in throwing stones from a glass house.

His home, Phoenix, has the fourth highest crime rate in the nation, and Barry spent some years as a member of the city council. Crime prevention is the responsibility of cities — not the federal government. Washington can intervene only where interstate crime is involved.

On Feb. 5, 1954, a Chinese citizen of Arizona, George K. Jue, was convicted of bribing a Hong Kong vice consul to obtain fraudulent visas. Jue peddled phony passports for $300 each, phony visas for $1,500 each. After serving in the federal pen at Florence, Ariz., he faced deportation back to China. But the accommodating senator from Arizona stepped in with a private bill to save him.

Nevada Sen. Howard Cannon, a church-going Mormon and middle-road Democrat, is expected to be Sen. Hubert Humphrey's successor as Democratic whip. Rhode Island's Sen. John Pastore will likely take over as Democratic floor leader. First, of course, Humphrey must be elected vice president and Cannon must be re-elected to his Senate seat, both considered likely.

Humphrey A Star In The Campaign

WASHINGTON — In a typical 24 hours, Sen. Hubert Humphrey appeared at the New York garment center to help erase lingering liberal doubts about Robert Kennedy for senator, dropped down in Topeka and Wichita, Kan., and Denver, Colo., and landed finally in California to give Pierre Salinger a needed boost for the Senate.

In such states as elsewhere, the senator is delivered handsomely on the bright promise that Democratic convention delegates had in mind when they agreed "it must be Hubert" for vice president. They expected a great deal of him.

It was presumed that in the big industrial areas he could present brilliantly the administration's case in foreign affairs, civil rights and labor-management problems. Speaking with the authentic accent of the Middle West, it was believed he could make inroads there, especially among farmers whose interests he understands and protects.

There was agreement, too, that his political talents and sunny outlook would serve him in any place and situation. President Johnson underlined this view by dispatching him South and arranging for him to address business groups which might be suspicious of his liberal outlook.

Vice presidents do not make or break tickets, and this election will very largely hinge on repudiation of Sen. Barry Goldwater. Yet Goldwater's choice of Rep. William Miller for vice president is widely seen as a reflection on his judgment. Many observers, in contrast, believe Humphrey has had great impact and is a source of credit to Johnson.

The anticipated conversion of the Midwest to the Johnson-Humphrey ticket is one of the campaign's real surprises, and Humphrey has contributed heavily to it. The swing includes Kansas, which by any measurement has been the most Republican state in the union.

The polls show the swing, and publishers are underscoring it. This week the Iola, Kan., Register and the Parsons, Kan., Sun, properties long associated with Republican policy and Republican officeholders, endorsed the Democratic ticket. Publisher Clyde Reed Jr. of the Sun was the Republican candidate for governor in 1958 and his father served both as governor and United States senator.

It is no wonder that Humphrey, aware of these and similar developments, kicked up his heels and raced happily up the steps of his plane for New York and points west. He has been less happy about criticism that the campaign has failed to enlighten the public on the issues.

His explanation is that it became important to hear out the "tragically, dangerous wrong" Goldwater solutions, then expose and reject them. He also contends that his rejoinders have made the headlines even when coupled with issues and new ideas about how to handle them.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Just three more days to go—and Nebraska's political picture is either still unsettled or unclear.

The presidential contest in Nebraska, the race for lieutenant governor and at least two congressional struggles particularly defy prediction. That in Walton itself is something new in Cornhusker politics.

Perhaps, Republicans will win by smaller margin than usual.

Or, perhaps the state is headed for another 1958, when Democrats elected a governor for the first time in 20 years; two congressmen for the first time in 18 years, and a state treasurer for the first time in 22 years.

It could even be another 1936.

It has been 28 years since Nebraskans voted for a Democratic presidential nominee, or elected a Democratic lieutenant governor, or handed Democrats a majority in Nebraska's delegation to the U.S. House of Representatives, or elected a Democratic congressman to represent Lincoln. Each one of those records is in danger next week.

If President Johnson were to sweep Nebraska and set off a Democratic landslide, still another record could stand in jeopardy. It has been 32 years since Nebraska's House delegation was all-Democratic — and 16 years since a Democratic congressman was elected to represent Omaha.

Despite obvious Democratic gains in Nebraska this year, Republican Sen. Roman Hruska does not appear to be in real danger. Democrat Raymond Arndt is a decided underdog. Nebraskans have not elected a Democrat to the U.S. Senate since 1934, or an Independent since 1936 when George W. Norris won his last term.

Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison remains a solid choice for a third consecutive term in his battle with Republican Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, winner of 21 consecutive elections. Incidentally, it now has been eight years since Republicans elected a governor.

Republican Statehouse incumbents appear to be relatively safe. The state treasurer's race, boasting no incumbent officeholder, is a mystery, could go Democratic if a tide develops. Two State Railway Commission races include no incumbents, so they too contain an element of uncertainty.

Predict the four tight races?

No sir!

But we will say this. Barry Goldwater's candidacy has aided Nebraska's Democratic congressional nominees.

In the First District, the tussle between Democrat Clair Callan and Rep. Ralph Beermann must be rated even. The Johnson-Goldwater race is helping Callan. Lincoln belongs to both the President and to Callan; how much so could be the key.

In the Second District, Democrat Richard Swenson remains the underdog against Rep. Glenn Cunningham. A Johnson sweep of Omaha could aid Swenson tremendously, as will the showing of Governor Morrison in Nebraska's largest city. The last time (1948) Douglas County voted Democratic in a presidential race was also the last time it elected a Democratic congressman.

In the Third District, Democrat William Colwell and Rep. Dave Martin have long been locked in a toss-up struggle. The Johnson-Goldwater race will not assist Colwell as much as it seems to be aiding Callan and Swenson.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Frank Morrison's support has been a great lift to Democrat Phil Sorenson. If Republican Charles Thone has to buck both the Morrison influence and a Johnson tide, it could prove to be too much. Of all Nebraska races, this is the one most difficult to pick. So we won't.

That brings us to the presidential contest, a race which clearly will prove to be an important factor in a number of other struggles. If Goldwater wins, Republican candidates may survive their toughest challenge in years. If Johnson wins, look for a 1958 or a 1936.

Lincoln and Omaha appear ready to jump into Johnson's corner. Outstate Nebraska is the question mark, traditionally Republican, now shaky. If Goldwater is to win a state, he must win the western two-thirds. You call it.

So, for a change, we think Nebraska is headed toward an election filled with suspense and the potential of great surprise.

Perhaps the surprises will occur in races we have failed to discuss. Perhaps, when it is all over, there will have been no surprises at all. Maybe there will be no upsets; the close races may turn out not to be close at all; the pattern of victory for Nebraska Republicans plus Frank Morrison may remain unchanged; the GOP may be able to successfully turn back the Democratic challenge.

But the seeds of real political revolution have been sown in Nebraska this year. It's the harvest we cannot see.

Equal Time

Lincoln, Neb.

I would surely like to be able to hear news of the President of the United States without having to listen to "equal time" about the senator from Arizona.

Secondly, "equal time" seems to mean slanted news one way or the other—equally good for one and (or) equally bad for the other. But how does one determine equal time—equally for and equally against?

What a headache! I will vote as I intend that the first—but rate the news coverage of the election campaign "zero." And all because of this "equal" business!

Grateful

Lincoln, Neb.

I want to say here and now, thanks to the two ladies out at the VA Hospital and the gentleman at the University sports department who have made it possible by their unselfish efforts for us to see and enjoy the football games that take place here in Lincoln.

Very grateful, indeed, are we, although we may not sound like it at times.

Less Fear

Lincoln, Neb.

It is a welcome development that Senator Goldwater has repudiated the Republican campaign film, "Choice," because of its racism.

Let him next repudiate the support of the radical right organizations such as the John Birch Society because of their heavy infestation by racists and other bigots. Then we might all have considerably less fear for our freedoms, should Mr. Goldwater get elected.

UNICEF Funds

Lincoln, Neb.

In The Star of Wednesday, October 28, a woman unwilling to identify herself by name attacks UNICEF. Why would a person identifying herself as "Mother" seek to undermine the efforts of boys and girls to assist a program which in its very few years has treated over 18 million mothers and children for yaws; 700,000 for leprosy and in 1962 protected 24 million children and mothers from malaria as a part of hundreds of programs in more than 100 countries?

The person seeks to destroy confidence in UNICEF by alleging that UNICEF money was used to finance the U.N. operation in the Congo. The Congressional Record is quoted.

The Congressional Record for August 14, 1962, contains a speech by Congressman Walter Judd in which Mr. Judd demonstrates that the charge that UNICEF money was misused is false. Mr. Judd stated that "in May, 1961, the State Department (not UNICEF) decided to make a loan of $10 million to the secretary general of the U.N. for use in the general budget (not Congo). For that purpose, the State Department used money (U.S. budget money, not children's contributions) earmarked for a U.S. contribution to UNICEF—at a time when this contribution was not yet due to be paid. UNICEF received a check for $10 million last December 27 for the money that had been loaned by the United States to the U.N."

The writer alleges that a State Department official in a congressional hearing admitted use of UNICEF money for the Congo. The opposite is true. The person was Mr. Harland Cleveland, assistant secretary for the International Organization Affairs, and his testimony before the subcommittee on appropriations confirms Congressman Judd's statement. Congressman Judd is no liberal or pro-communist. His speech referred to above includes such statements as the following: "The accomplishments of UNICEF have been extraordinary. I don't know any money we have spent anywhere that has done more good and been better administered." He expresses great confidence in the director of UNICEF, Mr. Maurice Pate, recommended for the position by the late Herbert Hoover. In his speech Congressman Judd effectively answers many charges made against UNICEF.

I am glad to make available to anyone who requests it reprint copies of the Congressional Record giving the speech of Congressman Judd. Let us encourage boys and girls in an act of service and an experience in international relations.

Promotion

Stenauer, Neb.

Here in Pawnee County, the county superintendent's office has been taken over by 301. There was a sign on the door which read "County Superintendent," but now it reads "301."

The salary of this county official is paid out of tax money which comes from both sides. Was the county superintendent hired to take care of school business or promote 301?

Which county office will be used next to promote some issue with taxpayers' money?

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Widow Would Like More Attention From Her Married Children

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "I'm a widow with three grown, married children. They live in the same town and it hurts me that they don't give me a little more attention. Here are three things I wish they would do: (1) have a party for my birthday (they never even remember the date), (2) invite me to their home for Sunday dinner at least once a month (I always do the inviting), and (3) call me on the phone at least once a week (I always do the phoning). Isn't this the least they could do?"

A. It would seem so. But we're all built differently and it's difficult to change a grown person's nature. There's no harm in letting them know you wish they'd do these things. But you probably won't get anywhere making an issue of it. Be thankful for small favors.

You're lucky to have children and to have them living nearby. Build up contacts and friendships with folks your age and create an absorbing life of your own so you won't feel so dependent on them.

Q. "My wife and a bunch of other biddies take turns daily picking up old folks and carting them to a local senior citizen center for games and refreshments. Then they cart them home again. Seems to me wives could find better use for their time than running this chauffeur service for old folks—many of whom could walk or could afford to take buses or taxis."

A. You should be praising your wife for her interest in older citizens. Sure, many elders can still get around on their own. But it's a courtesy and convenience when someone comes by and picks them up. Many lack incentive and would stay at home and mope otherwise. You'll probably see the situation differently when you are old—particularly if you are alone in the world, as so many elders are.

Q. "You often sound off on the need for older people to be well-dressed and well-groomed. But I want to ask, 'What for?' At 72 nobody gives a hoot if I wear ragged slacks and have my hair straggling down my face. Nobody notices me anyway. So why put on the dog?"

A. One reason nobody notices or cares is probably because you pay no attention to your appearance. When an older person lets himself look like a bag of rumpled laundry he soon loses pride in himself and his morale takes a nosedive. In the process he scares away folks who might otherwise be friends.

Q. "You recently said that anyone handy with tools and a paintbrush can find work. Nuts. I've got the best equipped workbench in town and the neighbors know it. I've always painted and done the odd jobs around home. But now that I'm retired on Social Security no one has ever offered me work."

A. They probably don't know you're available. Put an ad in the paper. Put out a sign, if the zoning laws permit. Print up some flyers stating what you can do, how much you charge and how to get in touch with you. If you follow these three steps chances are you'll soon be up to your ears in odd jobs and making the $100 monthly you can earn and still draw Social Security.

Miles Honored By NWU Alumni

Lawrence D. Miles, Schenectady, N.Y., Friday was given the Nebraska Wesleyan University Alumni Medal of Honor, highest award the alumni association can bestow.

Miles and four other alumni were honored at the ninth annual Alumni Awards Convocation, held each year as part of the Homecoming celebration. Also receiving awards were:

—Katherine Boeye Ward, 1922, Loyalty Award for her dedicated service to The Methodist Church as a missionary.

—Virginia Cotton Stoltz, Loyalty Award, for his service as president of the national woman's auxiliary of the American Medical Association.

—Col. Bruce Keith, 1940, Loyalty Award, for her service to the nation as an officer in the U.S. Marine Corps.

—Mary Champ Peckham, 1926, Achievement Award, for her years of devotion to the Omaha Playhouse.

Miles, a native of Harvard, Neb., is the creator and international authority on Value Analysis, a technique he pioneered in 1947 to more efficiently identify more unnecessary cost at early development stages.

Miles graduated from Wesleyan in 1925 and joined the General Electric Company in 1932 where he now works as a consultant.

He has received General Electric's highest award for extra achievement in developing his new technology and has also been cited for his help in establishing a value analysis program for the Bureau of Ships of the Navy Department.

Mrs. Ward, a 1922 graduate, has served as a missionary in China since 1925. She lived under the tyranny of Japan and the terror of Communism. Mrs. Ward calls Hendersonville, N.C. her home.

Mrs. Stoltz, a native of Table Rock, Neb., held national offices 10 years in the AMA woman's auxiliary before her term of president last year. She traveled more than 100,000 miles encouraging women to become involved in their community health problems.

Col. Keith, a native of Cozad, is a 1940 graduate. He has served in the Marines for 23 years and is presently force deputy for operations, plans and training in the Hawaiian headquarters of the Fleet Marine force in the Pacific.

Most of Reed's profit, which is about $23.00, is being saved for his college education. He is considering one of three fields of study: aeronautical engineering, architecture or law.

Reed's conscientious delivery and friendly attitude have earned him several new customers, which will mean a larger route profit. He always has the paper in the right place and on time. He feels that his route has taught him to handle responsibility and is preparing him for the future. He has also learned to awaken each morning automatically.

Senators Hit Omaha Firm's Power Offer To 3 Cities

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Legislative Council's public power study committee Friday voiced criticism of an Omaha investment banking firm's proposals to operate municipal electric systems in Nebraska.

The offer has been made by Robert E. Schweser Co. to at least three communities: Ogallala, Albion and Scottsbluff.

Sen. Peter Claussen of Leigh said.

Private operation of a municipal electric system would mean that "the public would not receive the benefit from any surplus," Norton noted. "It would go to private investors."

Should Be Limit

Norton said he personally believes there should be some legislative limit on the use of surplus municipal electrical funds.

The committee Friday received an attorney general's opinion that under present laws, only cities of the second class and villages are clearly authorized to transfer surplus electric revenue to the general fund for other uses.

"The statutes pertaining to first class cities are not sufficiently definite to allow the formation of any definite conclusion and appear to require legislative attention," the opinion stated.

(Lincoln's city charter prohibits the use of electric revenue for any purpose other than operation of the electrical system or payment of bonds on the system.)

Norton told the committee that the Legislature will be faced with "the question of establishing a rate authority" within the next few years.

Under the retail service area concept established by the 1963 Unicameral, he said, "there is no room for retail competition. . . or the right of a customer to choose his supplier."

That basic question is involved in the current dispute over what agency will serve the new Phillips Petroleum Co. fertilizer plant near Beatrice, he noted. A decision on that case may be forthcoming next week.

Nebraska, Norton said, needs interconnection with outside electrical sources in addition to its new generation units.

Changes Recommended
The merger of Omaha Public Power District and Eastern Nebraska Public Power District places other power agencies in "a position where they may not be able to avoid vertical integration" as a means of future reorganization, Norton noted.

The board recommended a number of changes in the legislation which established it and outlined its duties. No major changes were formally recommended, but a number were discussed.

$7,908,000 Goes To Nebraska For Highway Work

Washington (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads announced Friday that a second quarterly allotment of $950 million in federal highway funds will be released for obligation by the states Nov. 16.

A similar amount was released Aug. 20, the day after Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges apportioned to the states $3.8 billion authorized by Congress for spending during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1966.

The funds are allocated and released in advance to enable states to plan and let contracts in an orderly fashion. Actual reimbursement to the states is made after the work is completed.

Amounts to be released to each state include $7,908,000 for Nebraska.

Hartington To Honor Burney, Thone Sunday

Hartington (UPI)—A recognition dinner will be held at Holy Trinity Parish Center Sunday evening for two Cedar County natives, Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, and Charles Thone, the GOP candidate for lieutenant governor in Tuesday's election.

The dinner will be sponsored by the Hartington Commercial Club.

Sen. Roman Hruska will give a brief speech. The main address will be by the Rev. Arden Wild of Stanton.

Burney opposes Governor Morrison in Tuesday's election.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, an ex-officio member of the committee, suggested that the 1965 Legislature may need to amend the basic public power law to ban private operation of public power agencies, in addition to ownership.

The question was raised by Nebraska Power Review Board Chairman William Norton as the board and the legislators met in joint session.

Private Power

"Should private interests be allowed to operate public facilities?" Norton asked. The Schweser proposal is "private power," he said.

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook suggested that "if all municipalities operated properly today, there would be no surplus funds (sufficient to tempt) private investors."

A proposal like the Schweser plan represents "a foot in the door" for private power,

THESE ARE THE FACTS:

"State Railway Commission hasn't compiled a particularly favorable record in the last five years in terms of the state supreme court rulings on cases appealed from commission decisions. Commission decisions have been reversed 21 times and affirmed 18 times, while one order was reversed in part and affirmed in part. So far this year, five commission decisions have been reversed with none affirmed." (Lincoln Sunday Journal — October 4, 1964)

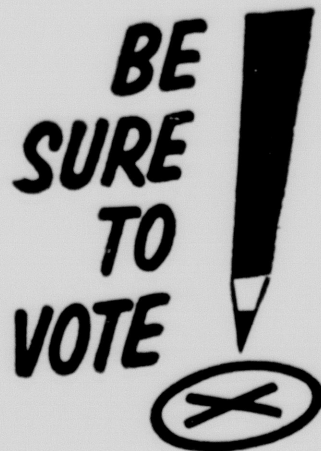

"... the dissension on the Commission has reached the point where attorneys cannot get the Commission to hand down orders and decisions on cases aired before the Commission." (Lincoln Evening Journal — October 16, 1964)

The Railway Commission has failed to give the people of Nebraska the decrease in rates that they are entitled to as a result of the federal corporate income tax reduction.

$10,908.57 was spent by the incumbent in the primary election alone, of which $9,370.57 was reportedly his own money.

The incumbent is 70 years old now and would be 76 by the time his term was over.

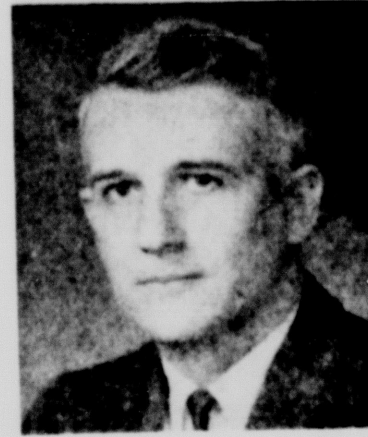

Are the voters in the First Railway Commission District going to put their stamp of approval on this type of performance by sending the incumbent back to office, or are they going to express their dissatisfaction and vote in—

Pierre Alleges Smear

Los Angeles (P)—Sen. Pierre Salinger said Friday that supporters of Republican senatorial candidate George Murphy are "distributing anonymous hate sheets describing my mother as a Communist and casting doubts on my own loyalty."

Salinger, in making a formal protest to the state and national Fair Campaign Practices Committees, produced four exhibits.

First, the Democratic senator showed an unsigned chain letter which he said was "distributed throughout California which flatly described my mother as a 'registered Communist.'"

Brochure

Next, Salinger displayed a mimeographed brochure he said was "distributed from Murphy's main Los Angeles headquarters, which declares that both my mother and father were 'active socialists in France.'"

Salinger also showed statements from Democrats that they "received from anonymous telephone calls from persons identifying themselves as members of the Socialist Party and declaring that I have the endorsement of that party."

Salinger's final exhibit was an unsigned brochure on yellow paper which he said poses the question "is there any truth to the very persistent rumor that his (Salinger's) mother is a Red sympathizer?"

"Furthermore, my father, now dead, was born in New York and was in France only once on a brief visit."

"I have absolutely no knowledge of my endorsement by any socialist group."

A spokesman for the Murphy headquarters in Los Angeles said:

"We, the Murphy headquarters, notified the press four days ago that this literature had been found in one of our headquarters. At that time we repudiated it and denied vehemently that we had anything to do with it, had seen it or, much less, authorized it."

Curtis Publishing Co. Fires Two Top Rebel Executives

Philadelphia (P)—Clay Blair Jr. and Marvin D. Kantor, senior vice presidents of the Curtis Publishing Co. who led a revolt against top management, were fired Friday by the firm's board of directors. They said they would fight the ouster.

In a terse statement, the company said, "This action was taken by the board for what it believed to be in the best interests of the company."

Blair was editor-in-chief of Curtis' five magazines and editor of the Saturday Evening Post at an annual salary of $75,000. Kantor was the $80,000-a-year chairman of the magazine division.

Blair and Kantor, both members of the board, had charged Chairman Matthew J. Culligan with mismanagement in a letter to the board made public Oct. 9.

Ten days later, Culligan resigned as president but held his post as chairman of the board.

The men said they made it clear to the board that they regarded the action taken as totally unwarranted and legally indefensible. They said they "intend to take immediate and aggressive action to protect their rights." Their lawyer declined to elaborate on what the action would be.

Curtis has been troubled by both financial and management problems. The firm reported losses of $18.9 million in 1962, $3 million in 1963 and $2.1 million for the first half of this year.

'Emotional Appeal' By Iowa Chief

Des Moines, Iowa (P)—The Republican candidate for governor Friday accused Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes of making an emotional appeal to Iowa voters through a national magazine story about his fight to conquer alcoholism.

The accusation was made by Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman, who indicated in a campaign debate with Hughes before the Greater Des Moines Chamber of Commerce that the governor had misled the public about when he quit drinking.

Hultman, 39, said the governor was charged in 1954 with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Hughes did not deny it. The Oct. 6 issue of Look Magazine said Hughes took his last drink in 1952.

'Vial of Poison'

Hughes, 42, seeking a second two-year term, told the public gathering the charge was a "vial of poison" typical of the tactics used in the campaign against him.

Later he said at a news conference he has made no secret of the fact that he was an alcoholic.

Hultman said in his speech that he was bringing the subject to the attention of the public because the governor through the national magazine article had interjected into the campaign "a personal issue, about which I have never spoken, which I have never discussed."

Asks One Thing

"But if there is to be an emotional appeal," Hultman said, "I ask but one thing. That is that the record be made clear, that it be straight, and that it be complete."

Hughes, interrupting his prepared talk to discuss Hultman's accusations, said that "if to win an election in Iowa, you must sneak like a thief in the night, through the dark corridors armed with poisonous darts and anonymous letters, then I'm not particularly interested in being victorious."

Hughes, who made a second speech for President Johnson at the Democratic National Convention, has a big lead over Hultman in their race for governor, according to most polls in the state.

Taxi Rate Hearing Is Rescheduled To Nov. 23

The State Railway Commission announced Friday it has continued until Nov. 23 a hearing on rate changes proposed by two Lincoln cab companies.

The hearing was originally set for Nov. 9 but the commission granted the delay so the companies can furnish exhibits 10 days prior to the hearing.

Krebiozen Protester Weeps At HEW Door

Washington (UPI)—Mrs. Gertrude Brou wept as she lay on her cot in the reception room of Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Mrs. Brou, about 50, was one of about 15 self-described cancer patients who spent the night on cots and pallets in the secretary's suite. They said they would remain until the government lifts its ban on Krebiozen, the drug they believe can hold their dread disease in check.

Mrs. Brou last summer invited arrest for illegal picketing of the White House and spent three weeks in jail in hopes of arousing public opinion in favor of the serum. With the exception of that period, she said, she has continued to receive injections of the serum until the closing Thursday of the Chicago laboratory where it is manufactured.

"They said then I was my own jailer," she sobbed. "What am I now? Where do I go? I can only go to the court of human appeals."

"I've seen what Krebiozen does—I've proven it works for me. That's all I ask of my government—let me use it. 'I'm a cancer patient without my drug. Doesn't anyone care?'"

Celebrezze tentatively was expected to return Saturday from Ohio, where he was campaigning. Meanwhile, a department spokesman said, the secretary was keeping in touch with the situation by telephone. There was no indication whether he would meet with the petitioners if he is in Washington Saturday.

About 26 of the demonstrators, suffering from varying degrees of the disease, began the sit-in Thursday after Dr. Stephen Durovic and others were indicted for conspiracy to place the controversial drug in illegal interstate commerce.

The federal government has taken the position, based on a study by 24 independent clinical experts, that there is nothing to indicate Krebiozen is of any benefit in the treatment of cancer.

British Guiana Freedom Off For Awhile

London (P)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's new Labor government, bowing to U.S. wishes, has ruled out early independence for British Guiana.

The development, reported by senior officials Friday night, came after high level British-American exchanges on how to check the spread of Castroism in the Western Hemisphere.

Guiana's left wing premier, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, was flying home—a disappointed man after meeting Wilson. Jagan came here with hopes that the Labor government might support his demands for a new approach to the tangled political, racial and constitutional problems that beset his country.

The switch of policy on British Guiana by Wilson and his lieutenants—including leftish Colonial Secretary Anthony Greenwood—was the first major concession to U.S. thinking since the Laborites won power two weeks ago.

Amended Bottle Club Act Receives Death Blow

The State Supreme Court dealt a death blow Friday to the amended bottle club act passed at a special legislative session last year.

The high court held that three sections of the bill, LB23, failed to fall within the listed purposes of the special session as set out in Gov. Frank Morrison's proclamation calling the special session.

The Legislature while in special session can transact no business except that for which the lawmakers were called together, the court noted.

The decision affirmed the judgment of the Lancaster County District Court in an action brought by the Arrow Club, Inc., Anthony M. Alesio and Eugene L. Cottier against the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission and its members and secretary, and against the city of Lincoln and its mayor.

The district court found that sections 1, 2 and 4 of LB23 were void. The lower court also held that Lincoln City ordinances Nos. 8261 and 8262 as they relate to bottle clubs were similarly void, and enjoined the city and the Liquor Commission from enforcing the provisions. In all of this, the Supreme Court concurred.

City Ordinance 8262 prohibited the dispensing of liquor on Sunday by a bottle club licensee. Ordinance 8261 prohibited the operation of a bottle club by a licensee who has complied with the requirements of the state law but who has not complied with the requirements of the city ordinance.

These ordinances conflicted with the bottle club law and are therefore invalid, the court held.

The original bottle club act was passed at the regular legislative session in 1963. But the definition of nonprofit corporation in that original act was found to be faulty, so Gov. Morrison, in calling the special session chiefly to consider interest-credit legislation, also included in the call the matter of redefining nonprofit corporations.

The Legislature in special session, in addition to redefining nonprofit corporations, tightened the original bottle club act in a number of ways. For instance, LB23 required permission of local governing bodies for Sunday operation of bottle clubs, required maintenance of up-to-date membership lists, and required a five-day wait between application for and issuance of a membership.

Inmates' Freedom Bids Denied

The State Supreme Court rejected Friday the bids of two inmates for release from State Men's Reformatory sentences on writs of habeas corpus. The judgments affirmed those of the Lancaster County District Court which had dismissed their petitions.

The lawsuits were brought against Nebraska Penal Commissioner Warden Maurice H. Sigler by Robert Draper and Herbert Daniel Arioso, both of whom were sentenced in 1956 to reformatory terms of not less than six nor more than nine years for Robbery in Douglas County.

They contended that the imposition of an indeterminate sentence was erroneous, that the sentences should be considered as a definite sentence for the minimum period of six years, and that because the inmates had served more than six years, they were being illegally detained.

The Supreme Court agreed that the indeterminate sentences were erroneous under the law, because robbery is a crime of violence and the law says in determinate sentences may not be given when crimes of violence are involved.

But the sentences, although erroneous, are not void, the court held. The sentences become a definite sentence for the maximum period of nine years specified, the court held.

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Affirmed the Buffalo County District Court in a suit brought by William M. Kent and others against the Dairyland Mutual Insurance Co. At issue was the question of whether plaintiffs' insurance policy on an auto involved in an accident was in force or not. The lower court found generally for the plaintiffs and the Supreme Court concurred.

—Concurred with the Scotts Bluff County District Court in refusing to modify terms of a divorce decree granted Doris L. Walters from William H. Walters.

—Affirmed the judgment of the Scotts Bluff County District Court in a Workmen's Compensation action brought by Lydia Groskopf Spunkler against Terry Carpenter, Inc., and Carpenter's Compensation Insurance Co. of Wisconsin. The District Court had affirmed the award given the plaintiff by the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Court, but the plaintiff appealed to the Supreme Court on grounds she was entitled to larger benefits than those awarded to her.

—Affirmed the Douglas County District Court in dismissing a suit brought by Kathryn Stacey against Dr. Anthony R. Pantano, her physician. The plaintiff contended the physician made false representations about her condition and sued for damages. The court held that the action was not brought within the two-year limitation period in malpractice actions.

—Reversed the Douglas County District Court in an auto accident damage action brought by Dolores Odom against Orville Wilma and Gray Lines Bus Co., Inc. A jury found for the defendants but the lower court set aside the verdict and granted a new trial. The Supreme Court held that the defendants are entitled to a verdict in their favor as a matter of law.

—Unsettled the Douglas County District Court in granting a new trial in an action brought by Mildred M. Beveridge against Miller-Binder, Inc. The plaintiff claimed fraud, deceit and misrepresentation in connection with the defendant's sale of a building lot to her. A jury found for the plaintiff but the court granted a new trial. The Supreme Court said that while a judgment for the plaintiff could properly be found, the jury's $2,800 judgment award was excessive.

A Party For Weekend Guests

When Mr. and Mrs. John Hoppe entertained informally at their home on Friday evening, the party honored a foursome of weekend game guests—Mr. and Mrs. Warner B. (Dusty) Rhoads of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stephens of Akron, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, who arrived from Akron earlier this week are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haynie, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads, whose arrival was close to party time, are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hoppe. In the picture are (couples, left to right), Mr. and Mrs. Haynie, Mr. and Mrs. Hoppe, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads.

IN SUBURBIA

EASTBOROUGH

We have an idea of what suburban residents are up to this morning — tying down lawn furniture and hiding trash cans, for tonight is the night of practical jokers.

These timely little chores must be done early this morning for there is no time to waste — especially when there are out-of-town guests arriving and a football game to attend. The football game is optional this weekend unless of course, you are lucky enough to have season tickets.

We assume, however, that the younger generation is less concerned about football and more concerned about the activities planned for this evening.

Parties are on the agenda this weekend in Eastborough — especially Halloween parties — the one at the home of Penny Auvinen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Auvinen, for instance.

Penny began Halloween festivities early and entertained Wanda McGill, Beth Leshner, Barbara Payne, Barbara Moore, Mary McCowell, Chris Wallen, and Nancy Armstrong at a Halloween supper and old-fashioned taffy pull on Friday evening.

Lincoln is enjoying a beautiful weekend—and so are its many residents and out-of-town guests who have arrived for the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stanley will be heading toward the coliseum with their out-of-town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Jenkins of Omaha. Accompanying these two couples to the game will be Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Vermeer.

This evening, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley will be returning to Omaha with Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins and on Sunday they will attend the Restaurant Convention.

While Mr. and Mrs. Stanley are out-of-town their children, Jayne and Rusty,

A touching bit of drama took place the other day. The setting was the Indoor Zoo at Antelope Park—the time, afternoon. The scene involved a cast of five, and the audience was composed of only members of the zoo staff, and the residents of the indoor zoo.

The scene opened with a couple—a man and his wife who looked to be in their late twenties or very early thirties. They walked around and around the zoo in a sort of preoccupied manner and seemed to be waiting for something besides the enthusiastic welcome they received from the small animals—especially the monkeys.

The staff waited and wondered.

The moment came when smiles brightened the faces of the man and the woman.

That was when they greeted two small children, a little boy, three and a half years old, and a little girl who was just two years old. The children were accompanied to the zoo by a case worker from an adoption agency. It was her idea that the zoo be the meeting place for the new parents and their two adopted children, and a few moments later the happy foursome—mother, father, son and daughter, were on their way to their out of town home.

Before the departure, however, the zoo staff had passed the hat and the two small people each had a brand new toy to carry home with them.

This is the story of a very young fellow who hasn't given too much thought, as yet to world problems. This is due to the fact he hasn't been around too long. He will be 18 days old next Tuesday.

We're talking about Terren Bennett Magid, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Magid (Carolyn Schimmel) of Omaha, who has a very special friend.

It all began on Oct. 16—the day that Bennett Cerf appeared as guest speaker at the Town Hall Lecture Series in Omaha. Mrs. Magid is the 1964 chairman of the Town Hall and by all of the rules and regulations should have been on hand to greet Mr. Cerf and introduce him. But Oct. 16 also was the day that Terren Bennett chose to make his world debut, so it naturally follows that Mrs. Magid was in the hospital, where she should have been, and not at the Town Hall lecture where she was supposed to have been. There was an empty chair on the platform.

The lady who introduced Mr. Cerf explained that Mrs. Magid could not be present —and why.

Anyway, and to make a long story short, Mr. Cerf insisted upon going to the hospital to meet Mrs. Magid and her young son.

Jokingly he said — "Now look here, you have to get the name Bennett in here someplace." So — Terren BENNETT Magid it is.

Just the other day Mrs. Magid received a note from Mr. Cerf telling her that three books, "to start his permanent library," were on their way to young Terren.

The members of the Nebraska Art Association board met in regular session on Friday, and accepted the resignation of Mrs. F. B. Baylor.

The Board of Trustees presented the following resolution:

"Be it resolved that the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska Art Association accepts with deep regret the resignation of Mrs. Georgia Baylor, and in doing so wishes to express to her its sincere appreciation for more than thirty years of conscientious service as a Trustee. Her devotion to the teaching of art in the Saturday morning classes has been responsible for increasing interest in the visual arts throughout the community. There are many parents of families today whose first interest in art was aroused in these weekly classes.

We are deeply indebted to Mrs. Georgia Baylor for her contribution to the Art Association and her community."

Other business of the day included the appointment of Fred N. Wells as executive secretary of the Association. Plans for a Danish Dinner which will be open to Nebraska Art Association membership, and which will be held at the Gallery on Monday evening, Nov. 16.

Dear Abby Better To Know Now Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my husband hired a pretty, young secretary (married). I never paid much attention to her, although he did take her to dinner occasionally when he'd ask her to work late. I know they lunched together, too, but I suppose many such lunch-eons are for the purpose of discussing business. Three weeks ago my husband received word that he was being transferred out of town. Now he tells me that this secretary is getting a divorce (no children) and is going with him! Abby, do you believe in a woman's intuition? He never mentioned that this woman was unhappy in her marriage. Why suddenly this? I have the feeling that something is going on. Is it my place to ask my husband if he has something to tell me? If he has, why should I make it easier for him?

WOMAN'S INTUITION

DEAR INTUITION: Yes, ask him if he has something to tell you, and don't worry about whether you are making it "too easy" for him. It will be easier for you than waiting and wondering.

NO HAIR

DEAR NO HAIR: Punishment? I would insist that he be subjected to a mental examination. Next time he might not stop at the scalp.

It Seems To Me

Holiday Decor For Your Home

Patricia Scott

Here are two ways to brighten up your home for the holidays. Since the bright red poinsettia is a symbol of Christmas cheer, why not bring its star-like flowers to your table this year in the form of napkin rings? All you need is red felt, and metallic silver baby rickrack.

There are two pattern pieces for each holder (figure 1). "A" is a one-inch wide strap with small petals at each end. "B" is a four petal flowerette.

To Make Pattern: For "A" place FOLD A on crease of folded paper and cut double. For "B", place FOLD B on crease of paper and cut double.

To Make: 1. Make as many of these pieces as needed from red felt for each holder. Stitch rickrack close to all edges and stitch a lengthwise, center strip on each pattern piece.

2. Make 1/2 inch lengthwise center slit in piece "B". Make a 1/2 inch crosswise slit at FOLD B in one end only of piece "A".

3. Pull petals of unslit end of "A" through slit in "B". Pull unslit end of "A" through "A" slit. This makes a complete flower at the end of the napkin strap. Now roll up the napkin and slip it through the strap as in Figure 2.

Another way to bring a new look to your home is to decorate with a window shade. All you need is a bed sheet printed in a pretty pattern to coordinate with your room decor, and the old shade hanging in your window. (Figure 3)

To Make:

1. Remove window shade from roller. Slip wood from lower edge.

2. Using the old shade as a pattern, cut a new one from sheeting two inches wider and longer. For body, wash, starch and iron the sheet before cutting.

3. Hem sides, using up the two extra inches. Make hem at bottom for casing.

4. Insert wooden strip in casing. Sew on shade cord of ribbon, cotton tassel, brass ring, or plastic flower to match those in the shade design.

5. Staple or tack the new shade to the original roller. Be sure the shade hangs straight.

To really coordinate your look, make solid color curtains to match the color in the shade print.

Opening lead — king of spades.

One common method of defending against a suit contract is to try to run declarer out of trumps by forcing him to ruff a suit. This method of play is most often successful when declarer has only eight trumps to the opponents' five. If the defense can accomplish their aim soon enough, they can take whatever tricks they have left in their long suit, once they obtain the lead.

South was in six hearts and West led a spade. Declarer ruffed and cashed the A-K of hearts, learning of the 4-1 trump break. When he then played the ace and another club, East discarded a diamond. If East had ruffed, declarer would have made the contract.

South now played a low club and ruffed with the nine, East again refusing to ruff. As a result of these two plays by East, South could not get out of dummy without reducing himself to one trump, while East still had two, and the result was that he went down two.

It is plain to see that South lost the slam because he lost control of trumps. Actually, by playing more carefully and making allowance for the possibility of a 4-1 division in hearts and clubs, he could have made the contract.

After ruffing the king of spades, South should have led a heart to the king and then played the ace and another club. East would probably discard and South would win with the king.

He would then play a low club and ruff with the nine. It would not matter now whether East overruffed or not. In either case South would make the contract.

If East overruffed, South would draw trumps with the A-Q and claim the balance against any return. If East discarded instead, South would still have a trump left in dummy to lead and would cash the A-Q and then play his good clubs. East would sooner or later make a trump trick, but no more.

FAITH OPENS NEW HORIZONS WHEN YOU OPEN THE CHURCH DOOR

FALLING LEAVES

...usher in the season of Thanksgiving. The time when white frosts and flaky snows cover the earth. Isaiah 35 speaks of this mirage, but we know the Lord reigneth, and the parched ground shall become a pool as He said. Then, since all must come to judgment and be rewarded according to his personal behavior; and since eternity is so very long ... it is urgent that we approach, with much concern, our rendezvous with death. There is no variableness in God's cause nor in His justice. Support His church regularly and worship God every day.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Educators Are Told They Have To Possess Visions To Do Job

By GERRY SWITZER AND LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writers

Educators must possess the four visions of mind, conscience, heart and soul, a former U.S. commissioner of education told teachers at Friday's general session of District I of the Nebraska State Education Association.

Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick, assistant executive secretary for educational services of the National Education Association, said it is "important for teachers to keep up" and "now as never before, we need to organize instruction, manage classrooms and guide students to learn independently."

"We must quit doing so much work for them, and give them the privilege of doing it on their own. Give the student a good image of himself and have him feel the teacher respects him," he added.

Dr. Derthick emphasized the importance of teachers listening to the child rather than talking all the time in order that the "powerful internal intellectual dynamo within each child may be stimulated."

Willingness

Vision of conscience, Dr. Derthick said, involves willingness to do one's duty despite obstacles, or "learning to like what you have to do."

"Keeping on when others give up, and having the vision to understand each human being is vision of heart, while vision of soul is faith... which we must have as a nation and as individuals."

"Boys and girls must be able to face reality and see the dark side, but also realize that no matter how bad the dark side is, there's always a bright side," he said.

Mrs. Frank Morrison, wife of the governor, told members of Delta Kappa Gamma at a luncheon that partisan politics should be discussed in the classroom.

"Children are never too young to start having an interest in politics and government," she said, "... and it is the teacher's challenge to create a glowing interest within them to learn."

"I don't know of any profession that is so important in the world today as the teaching profession," Mrs. Morrison added.

"This is the opportunity given to you as teachers to help mold the youth of today."

Election of officers and discussions highlighted other sectional meetings Friday.

Mrs. Sabin President

Mrs. Adra M. Sabin of Nelson was elected president of the librarians' section. Other new officers are: Mrs. Merna Wischmeier of Burchard, secretary, and Mrs. Audra Reid of Milford, treasurer.

Teaching machines and their possible use in the art classroom was the subject of Mankato State College Professor Marvin Spomer's presentation on programmed learning in art and its implications.

He discussed a self-operational audio-graphics machine that gives art subject matter on film and the teacher's voice on tape simultaneously. Spomer urged instructors to look for more mechanical devices which might be used in the art room.

New officers were elected at the mental health session where Dr. David Levine of the University of Nebraska psychology department spoke on Nebraska comprehensive long-range mental health planning. The officers: Mrs. Lyle Davis, Hebron, president; Irvin Deeds, Lincoln, vice president and George Stevens, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Vocational educational plans submitted for federal approval in order to use national funds were explained to business education teachers at their luncheon meeting. In order for the money to be granted, it was stated that a student must have a recorded vocational objective for his desired occupation.

Panel members discussing the vocational and manpower acts by answering questions from Dr. Gordon Culver of NU, were Cecil Stanley, division of vocational education; Darrell Grell, manpower training; and John E. Elias, distributive and business education.

Economics Stressed

Dr. William Gillies, field director of the Nebraska Council on Economic Education, stressed the importance of teaching economics in high school. He emphasized its neglect in the lower grades in the past and cited how 85% of the businessmen questioned in a tax cut poll gave answers that indicated a complete misunderstanding of the national economy.

Mrs. Mildred C. Richards presided over the election of new officers in which Mrs. Muriel Redfern, Hampton, was chosen president; Paul Joice, Union College, vice president; Mrs. Kathryn Boden, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Jackie Cink, Crete, District I executive board member of NSBEA.

"Orthopedic Problems and Their Implications" was the subject of Dr. Paul Goetow-ski, Lincoln, as he addressed the District I school nurses. Using X rays, he discussed means of detecting handicaps, and ways children can be accommodated in school.

"Learning a language is a matter of building a repertory of habits, first spoken, then written," according to Dr. Paul Olson of NU, speaking to foreign language teachers.

Ermal Garinger of the University of Wyoming listed four goals in learning a foreign language: listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing. He said that teachers have the skills and tools with which to teach, and questioned, "Why, then, the frustration?"

No Guarantee

The frustration, he said, is that there is no guarantee that a student will be able to communicate in a foreign language. He noted that this necessity of bridging the gap from the artificial classroom situation to a natural spontaneous communication provides the difficulty.

Foreign language teachers chose Mr. Roger Gilmore, NU, chairman and Miss Jo Rene Leighton, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

What happens within a counseling interview was the concern of the Nebraska Personnel and Guidance Association listening to Dr. Marvin Knittel of Kearney State College, whose topic was "Ambiguity and Anxiety as Related to Counseling."

"If they do well for you—if your grades are accurate—they will do well for us," agreed the three panel members explaining to District I secondary English teachers, "How We Can Prepare Our Students for College."

Their statement was qualified, however, by the notation that colleges receive fewer than the upper one-third of high school graduating classes.

Levels Of Usage

"Students should be taught levels of usage," instead of rigid grammatical rules, according to Mrs. Ned S. Hedges, NU.

What is the argument between the Russian and Chinese Communists all about?

Russian Communists believe:

External encirclement plus internal demoralization plus atomic blackmail equals progressive surrender.

Chinese Communists believe in:

Internal violent revolution stimulated and led by the Communist Party.

Reduced to essentials, the Russians and Chinese disagree about one thing—what is the quickest and surest way to conquer the United States.

AREAS OF AGREEMENT

There are many more points of agreement between the Russian and Chinese Communists than there are points of disagreement. Both agree on the following:

1. The United States of America is the source of most of the evil in the world and must be destroyed. Both concurred in this definition of the United States which was signed by 81 Communist Parties of the World: "the greatest international exploiter, the center of world reaction, the chief bulwark of modern colonialism, the international gendarme, the main force of aggression and war, and the enemy of the world."
2. The International Communist Movement is the instrument to accomplish this destruction of America.
3. The program by which this destruction is to be carried out is called "Peaceful Co-existence." Both define this as conquest without thermonuclear war.

AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT

The Russians and Chinese disagree over the best methods to follow under the title of peaceful coexistence. The Russian Communists believe that the formula of conquest is—external encirclement plus internal demoralization equals progressive surrender.

RUSSIAN

To carry out their policy, the Russian Communists believe that they should:

1. Encourage wars of "national liberation" in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.
2. Neutralize Western Europe.
3. Demoralize and isolate the United States.

Conquest would then come about through a series of "accommodations" with the external encircling, blackmailing communist-dominated world power. They desire a government in power in the U.S. that will agree to these "Accommodations."

POLICY WITHIN AMERICA

The official American Communist Party under the leadership of Gus Hall is an obedient servant of the Russian Communists. In accord with Russian strategy, their policy is:

1. Build an image of law abiding respectability for U.S. and Russian communists.
2. Create the image of a phony fascist danger in the United States growing out of an alleged ultra-right conspiracy.
3. Focus the energies of the party on this alleged ultra-right conspiracy by a vicious attack on Senator Barry Goldwater.
4. Give qualified support to programs of the present administration.
5. Infiltrate and influence the Civil Rights movement but keep within its mainstream by supporting the established Civil Rights leaders and organizations.

On the record, the Russian Communists have shown greater thermonuclear adventurism. It was the Russian Communists who placed the missiles in Cuba and brought the world to the brink of thermonuclear destruction. The Chinese Communists did not reprove them for removing the missiles but for putting them there. They claimed this was a departure from fundamental communist principles. The official Chinese Communist statement on the question of missiles in Cuba is as follows:

"The Communist Party of China and the Chinese people have always maintained that the course of history is decided by the great strength of the masses of the people and not by any weapons. On more than one occasion we have made it clear that we neither called for the establishment of missile bases in Cuba nor obstructed the withdrawal of the so-called 'offensive weapons' from Cuba. WE HAVE NEVER CONSIDERED THAT IT WAS A MARXIST-LENINIST ATTITUDE TO BRANDISH NUCLEAR WEAPONS AS A WAY OF SETTLING INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES. Nor have we ever considered that the avoidance of a thermonuclear war in the Caribbean crisis was a 'Munich.'

CHINESE

The Chinese Communists believe that the conquest of the United States is primarily the responsibility of the American Communists and the American people. From Marxist-Leninist doctrine they believe that a majority of the American people are in a state of potential rebellion against the capitalist system and the government and that a courageous and dedicated communist minority can ignite and lead this revolutionary explosion.

- Those communists in America under the influence of the Chinese Communists advocate the following policies:
1. The communists should proclaim their role as revolutionary leaders and seek to inspire and lead others to acts of revolutionary violence.
  2. The attacks should be focused on the party in power.
  3. They teach there is no real difference between the nature of the two parties and they have no choice between Senator Goldwater and President Johnson. Their attitude is, "A plague on both your houses."
  4. Communists should lead independent Civil Rights groups in open violent rebellion.

THERMONUCLEAR WAR DIFFERENCES

strength of the masses of the people and not by any weapons. On more than one occasion we have made it clear that we neither called for the establishment of missile bases in Cuba nor obstructed the withdrawal of the so-called 'offensive weapons' from Cuba. WE HAVE NEVER CONSIDERED THAT IT WAS A MARXIST-LENINIST ATTITUDE TO BRANDISH NUCLEAR WEAPONS AS A WAY OF SETTLING INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES. Nor have we ever considered that the avoidance of a thermonuclear war in the Caribbean crisis was a 'Munich.'

THE GREATER PERIL

Both forms of communist strategy are evil and dangerous. When communists, following the advice of the Chinese, lead violent mobs to arson, murder and pillage on the streets, the American people become aroused. Nevertheless, the greater threat to the continued existence of a free America comes from the subtle, clever, integrated program of Russian communism. If concern is focused on the obvious Chinese Communist activities, while the Russian Communist strategy continues without recognition or opposition, the communists will have won a great and possibly a decisive victory. You are just as dead if you are strangled slowly as if you are shot or stabbed.

NU Regents Learn Interest Rate Good

University of Nebraska Regents Friday heard optimistic reports on the favorability of interest rates for their upcoming $15,990,000 bond issue for financing present and future dormitory building.

Dr. Joseph Soshnik, vice chancellor for business and finance, told board members that "there are indications that there will be real competition" among investment bankers on proposals to be submitted Nov. 18 to the university.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin noted that the last revenue bond issue by the university carried a 3.80% interest rate and another university recently floated a bond issue at a 3.55% rate.

Soshnik added that the British Labor Party is not planning to raise interest rates which will affect the bids favorably, and that no adverse effect is expected from the U.S. elections Nov. 3, "because its effects would not be felt that soon."

Regent Val Peterson advocated that some action should be taken to allow the state to pledge its credit behind such bonds and gain an even better interest rate on general obligation bonds, "instead of putting the burden on the students."

"We are going into debt and paying a premium for it," said

Wisconsin Man Killed In Crash West Of Chadron

Chadron — Jack Wilson, a 39-year-old Kewaskum, Wis., man, was killed Friday when the car he was riding in blew a rear tire and rolled over 6½ miles west of Chadron.

Wilson was returning home from a deer hunting trip with 55-year-old Melvin Klein of Alton, Wis., and Klein's 26-year-old son, Donald. He was riding in the rear seat of the car.

Outboard Marine Sales Increase By $16,955,328

Outboard Marine Corp., of which Cushman Motor Works of Lincoln is a subsidiary, announced that sales for the 1964 fiscal year ending Sept. 30 totaled $170,011,325, an increase of $16,955,328.

This represented an increase of 11.1% over the 1963 level. The 1964 earnings of $8,053,395 or $1.02 per share were up 28.4% from last year or 80c per share.

Peterson about the use of revenue bonds. General revenue bonds would carry from .80% to 1% less interest than revenue bonds. Pledging of the state's credit, he admitted, would require a constitutional amendment.

The Regents asked to allow redemption of $6.5 million in 1963 bonds for the George Abel dormitory construction to incorporate the debt in the new lower interest $15.9 million bond issue.

Council Okays 20% Cut In Electric Heat Rate

The City Council Friday authorized a 20% reduction in the electrical heating rate, following a similar action authorized earlier by Consumers Public Power District.

The new heating rate will be 1.25 cents per kilowatt hour (KWH) beginning Dec. 1 as compared with the present 1.6 cents.

The move had been discussed informally Wednesday by the council, which called a special meeting and public hearing for Friday morning to officially approve the change by resolution.

Announcement First A jointly sponsored CPPD and City advertisement announcing the rate change actually appeared several hours before the special meeting.

No one appeared on the proposed change. Attending the special meeting were only city officials and two reporters.

Mayor Dean Petersen told the council that the electrical department "is losing a great deal of its peak load capacity in the winter season and the new rate will help equalize the demand level with the summer peaks," he added.

"It's a standard move used by utility companies in attempts to equalize winter and summer peaks," he added.

In Line With State A Consumers spokesman said the lower rate had been

HALLOWEEN VANDALISM INCREASING

Police report that vandalism in connection with Halloween has increased during the last two days. Many reports have been received concerning soaped windows, and damage to both street signs and political campaign signs.

Police Capt. Eugene Henninger said that the regular Saturday night detail will be reinforced with men from other shifts. Court authorities warned of stiff penalties for vandalism.

The police issued a plea for safety precautions on Halloween eve. Parents are urged to explain and enforce common sense safety rules for trick-or-treating tots.

UnitedAppeal'Nearing Goal, Going Tougher'

Warren Jennings' public departments section crossed the goal line Friday to help bring Lincoln's Community Chest-Red Cross United Appeal to within 9.5% of its needed goal for 27 local services.

Quota-reaching efforts of Howard Christiansen, Dr. Robert Cranford and Col. Gene Cushman and their teams of volunteer solicitors boosted Lincoln's governmental and educational institutions and Lincoln Air Force Base combined total to $100,731 and the over-all campaign to $707,572 or 90.5%.

Col. Cushman reported an additional $4,474 gift from LAFB personnel, bringing the base's total contribution to $24,974 or 125% of its goal.

Since volunteers' reports did not total the hoped-for 100% Friday, another report meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, Howard Chapin, campaign general chairman said.

'Near Goal Line'

Chapin said "all divisions are now down near the goal line where the going gets tough and the gains are not so great. We can expect nothing spectacular; all we can do is keep plugging and pushing hard to meet that goal," he told volunteers.

The public departments section's success pushed the business and government division, under Frank Barrett, to a $163,574 total or 91% of a $179,500 goal. Two remaining business sections, led by Jerry Mapes and Wes Maser, have yet to reach their goals in that division.

Still the only one of four main divisions reaching its goal thus far, the women's division reported an additional $222 to bring its total to 107% of a $13,557 goal.

Seven more volunteers in the women's division have been awarded "Oscars" for 100% of goal. Mrs. A. B. Gorman, chairman, said. They are: Mrs. Kenneth Clark,

Building Pace So Far In '64 Tops All 1963

Lincoln's construction pace — $23,409,952 during the first 10 months—has topped last year's $23,116,920 for 12 months.

City Building Inspector L. F. Spahn's office reported Friday that October building permits amounted to $2,194,800, slightly under $2,678,741 a year ago.

However, the 1964 pace is $2,649,331 ahead of the comparable 1963 period and pushing the 1962 record high of $27,382,110.

A December construction start on the estimated new $6 million Lincoln General Hospital could set a new construction high in 1964. Bids on the project are scheduled to be opened Dec. 21.

October construction starts included 63 single-family residences, $941,749, and four multiple-dwelling structures totaling 39-units.

Major commercial construction was the $292,500 addition to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant.

Dr. Peterson Is Appointed As Consultant

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Friday he has been informed that Dr. Everett Peterson of Lincoln has been appointed a consultant to the director of agricultural economics of the Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Peterson is a professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska. He has been at NU since 1953, and has conducted extension programs on agricultural policy, international trade, wheat problems and policy, and state and local public finance.

His appointment was made by John A. Schnittker, the USDA's director of agricultural economics.

Schnittker said Dr. Peterson will attend a meeting of the advisory committee on feed grains and wheat in Washington, D.C., Nov. 12-13. Dr. Peterson also will be on call to advise on other projects, including international trade and the Food for Peace program.

Gov. Morrison termed the appointment "well-deserved recognition of the abilities of one of the outstanding members of the University faculty." He added the appointment was "a tribute to the University and the caliber of its faculty members."

LBJ Wins Doane Vote

Crete—Doane College students have cast a 65% vote in favor of President Johnson over Sen. Barry Goldwater in a straw vote.

The poll was conducted by the Doane Owl following a campus debate between the Young Democrats and Young Republicans. About two-thirds of the students voted.

LBJ Wires State Ag Unit 'Views Welcome'

Kearney (AP)—President Lyndon Johnson in a telegram told the Nebraska Democratic Agricultural Council Friday that its "views and constructive thoughts will always be welcomed in the White House."

The President referred to a resolution dealing with agriculture passed in Kearney Oct. 9 at a joint meeting of the council and county Democratic agricultural committees.

Democratic congressional candidates William Colwell and Clair Callan spoke at the meeting, and Colwell presented his proposal for a beef export council.

Moral Issue Awakens Nation, Says Hruska

Omaha (UPI)—Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., said here Friday that introduction of the issue of moral responsibility into this year's presidential election campaign "has served to awaken the nation's conscience."

The senator told a luncheon meeting of the Lutheran Men's Club of Omaha that in seven weeks of campaigning, "I have found the question of lowered moral standards, from the White House to crime in the streets, has emerged as the greatest concern in the minds of the people."

Railway Commission Dissension Hit By Pair

Democratic Railway Commission nominees John Sutton of Lincoln and Ralph Cole of Holdrege said Friday "proper discharge of the duties and broad responsibilities borne by the commission require maturity, judgment and application on the part of the members who administer it."

Dissension among the members "must of necessity interfere seriously with the proper functioning of this powerful regulatory body," they said.

Burney Asks Voters To 'Look At Record'

Republican gubernatorial nominee Dwight Burney Friday invited voters to "look at the record before going to the polls Tuesday."

Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison "is running on his record," Burney said. "I urge all voters to take a good look at that record."

Morrison added 1,300 additional state employees during the first 30 months of his administration, Burney said. The Republican poked at the governor's "record of absenteeism" and his "refusal to go to bat for the state's livestock industry during the meat import crisis."

School Board District Changes Sought

Legislative candidate James Studnicka Friday called for reapportionment of the elective districts for the State Board of Education "on the basis of population" to insure urban areas a proper representation on the board.

Studnicka seeks the 26th District seat in the Legislature.

Johnson-Humphrey Ticket Supported

Four members of the Nebraska Scientists, Engineers and Physicians for Johnson-Humphrey Friday urged the election of President Johnson next week.

They included Dr. Edgar A. Pearlstein, a physicist; Patricia Weymouth, a biochemist; Dr. William Arnold, a psychologist; and Nicolas M. Bashara, an electrical engineer. All are Lincolinites.

'People Don't Want Unprovable Claims'

"Last-minute smears and unprovable claims designed to cloud issues in the final days of this campaign are something the people of Nebraska do not want," Charles Thone of Lincoln said Friday.

"A seeker of high political office should demonstrate where he stands through careful and responsible presentation of the issues as he understands them," the Republican lieutenant governor nominee told the Lincoln Lions Club.

Sorensen Urges Rival To Tell School Stand

Philip C. Sorensen, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, Wednesday reiterated his stand against an appointed state board of education and urged his opponent "if he really cares about Nebraska education"—to do the same.

Sorensen said that he was planning to vote 301 Against on the ballot, an intention publicly shared by Gov. Frank Morrison and Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney.

"My opponent, Charles Thone, by neither supporting nor denying this amendment, fails in the leadership and initiative he calls for in educational affairs," Sorensen said.
